This child care centre began in 2007. Emmanuel and Jessie carefully screened children to find those in greatest need. There are around 45 children supported in the home and a few outwith the home. This is a very cost effective project with around $1 a day meeting the needs of each child.

Emmanuel and Jessie are keen to move towards self-sufficiency in terms of finance and are looking at the possibility of beginning a small buffalo farm or perhaps a small retail business.

The impact on the children moving from living by their wits on the streets to a safe and secure environment where the people have a genuine care for them is life changing.

Emmanuel Kumar and his wife Jessie work as pastors in the town of Kakinada in Andhra Pradesh. They pastor a church, run a Bible School and oversee a number of other ministries that help the poor. They became concerned at the number of children living on the streets or in desperate poverty and so decided to provide a home for them.
