£3000

In the school, Ruth and Vidya ensure that there is a proportion of students from the poorest backgrounds who are educated free, and this includes those who reside at the school.

Unlike most schools in India, there is a significant pastoral input to the children which emanates from Ruth, the head teacher, who has a real pastoral heart. With the pressures of making ends meet, in the running of the school, we at Shared Hope are meeting the costs for the children who stay with the Sagar and who otherwise would have no opportunity to receive an education.

Vidya Sagar is from Andhra Pradesh. He is married to Ruth and has one daughter, Deo. He is passionate about impacting people with the message of the Bible, and empowering young people through education. Ruth and Vidya run a school for almost 250 children. A significant building has been constructed that houses both the school and a sanctuary for the church. They also have provided accommodation in conjunction with the school for 15 children who come from remote parts of India.
