The Cooperative provides food for up to 650 pupils at a local public high school. This is a church outreach initiative aimed at making an impact within the local community. The project farms land where vegetables, beans and maize are grown, and it breeds chickens for providing meat. This produce is provided to the school. It is also an employer, employing local boys to work within the project. They now hope to expand the chicken breeding part of the enterprise. Through the project, the leaders hope to be a good witness and to show the love of Jesus to the community.
